

Contract for Tutoring Services for Unique Option Strategy on American Stock Market

Done between Mark Kushnir, as "Tutor" and _____, as "Student" for theoretical part of tutoring

Student agrees to pay 1500$ USD for 3 weeks course, 15 hours in total.

Payment is done in three parts, at the beginning of each week.

Tutor agrees provide personally developed tutoring for option trading strategy, developed by Tutor.

Course consists of three main parts. First part is devoted to basic knowledge of options, including Intrinsic value, time value, delta, at the money, out the money and in the money options.

The second part is devoted to Strategy itself, how it starts, how it develops, how to calculate profit and loss.

The third part is devoted to how software works, also developed by Tutor. How to determine the right Stock at right time and how to calculate high and low for future periods.

Tutoring is provided via translation to English in real time. Student agrees with it.

Course is provided personally or in groups with 2-3 Students with the same level of base knowledge In stock market.

Course can be extended in case if Tutor or Student cannot attend the lessons due to conditions like Illness or necessity absence due to work or family circumstances.

Student can also arrange additional weeks of tutoring for additional payment 300$ USD per week.

Student has right to demand all paid amounts after first 2 lessons if he (she) decided that it is not useful for him (her).

Student has right to stop the course at any time, but all paid amount at the moment, are not refundable.

Tutor does not have any responsibility for profit or loss that can be received by Student at real time trading.

This contract is effective at the date of first payment from Student to Tutor.